EDWIN RAND WELCOMED TO FILMS IN "THE CAPTURE"
Edwin Rand, who plays "Twain" in "The Capture" playing at the Elba Theater Tuesday and Wednesday had a successful young actor are applauding the success of Edwin Rand, who plays "Twain" in "The Capture" playing at the Elba Theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

Edwin Rand was doing very well on Broadway all through the Thirties. He did shows and in some of the best known plays. His career was halted when a war injury injured him in a veteran's hospital for a year.

Rand started out as an aeronautical engineer at Wright Aircraft plant in Paterson, N. J. Laid off during the depression, he changed to encounter Gumbo Marx, an agent, who suggested a tryout for a part in a Warner Bros. production. Rand had no dramatic training but got the job. Later he got many Broadway assignments and currently has turned to pictures.

BIG TIME IN CITY
Martin Russ returned Friday from Cincinnati, Ohio where he assisted in tabulating votes in Republican headquarters. Mr. Russ said the headquarters occupied three floors in one of the largest buildings in the city and the enthusiasm was high. He said he saw no hogs but sandwiches and coffee for two days and night with no time out for sleep, but felt the sacrifice well worth it.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED
Armistice Day was quite generally observed in Elba Tuesday. Most of the business houses were closed as well as the post office, bank, schools and public offices. Dorsey Trailers did not observe the holiday.

Will do remember the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, when millions of people went wild with joy when word was flashed from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf that WW I hostilities had ceased.

It was thought that the "war to end wars" was over and the world was "safe for democracy," said Monday, 20 models will be on the floor—the Fire-dome "B" and Powermaster.

All new body styles have been put on both cars. Mr. Reeves said. Other new mechanical features include full power brakes and power steering. DeSoto has had 1400 power drives for a good many years.

FOUNTAIN LEE ANSWERS WINTER FEED QUESTION
Five years ago Fountain Lee and his son, John Glenn, tried a pasture mixture new to them—this was the first of the state as far as they knew. It consisted of Kobe lespedea for summer grazing doubled with oats planted annually for green winter feed.

The two-acre planting on the farm in Lee community was an experiment tried at the suggestion of County Agent J. R. Speer. The owners ventured the use of their land and labor in the wintering search for a good year-around grazing combination for the peanut belt.

In March of 1929 the Lees planted 24 acres in Kobe. Oats were seeded over the Kobe in October, after the soil was plowed thoroughly. The Kobe came back from the Ohio seed life spring.

This system has worked well each year since the first planting was made.

The father and son, with County Agent, have worked out a simple plan of yearly fertilizing. They apply 500 pounds of 0-14-14 commercial mixture under oat planting in the fall, and with a light application of nitrate of soda the first year, and as the need is indicated by growth and color the second year, and after.

Asked if the Kobe lespedea survived the severe dry weather this summer, John Glenn Lee said, "It kept feeding the steers right through the drought. It held up equally well as sorghum."

By no means is it the only good combination resulting from the experiment in the Lees' farm. But it is certainly one that has worked on this farm. And it's one Speer believes has possibilities for the peanut areas.

Lost Hunting Time Will Be Made Up If Possible—McGowan
Alabama Conservation Director Earl M. McGowan said today that every possible effort will be made to give hunters an equal amount of time on the end of the hunting seasons to make up for that lost during the current forest fire emergency.

McGowan said extension of the seasons depends on the length of the present drought. If seasons are closed for a short period only, then it would be possible, McGowan said, to extend them to make up for the loss.

However, if the fire hazard continues for a long time, then an extension of the hunting season might affect some reproduction and damage next year's game crop.

He emphasized, that he does not mean to blame the hunters in the fire emergency.

KEEPING THEM APART
Alabama farmers produced 262,000 tons of cultivated hay during 1932 compared with 240,000 last year. Hay is selling for an average of $14.80 per ton, compared with $15.00 last year. The yield this year on a 100-acre farm is not as good as last year.

37 Years Ago—
On last Sunday at Elba, Rev. J. J. Fain and Mrs. L. M. McKee were married. Private Judge S. N. Rowe officiating. They are among our most popular people and have a host of friends in this section.

37 Years Ago—
A beautiful event of much interest to hosts of friends and relatives was the marriage of Miss Gertrude Donaldson to Mr. Fred Folsom on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. & Mrs. A. D. Donaldson, in West Elba.

The official returns from the general election held Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1932 were: Governor, Charles McMillen; U. S. Senator, Shields 63, W. C. Swain 12, E. H. Cross 63, Rep. in Congress, 3rd district, Henry B. Stewart 63, D. Sheriff, W. P. Stewart 63, D. McGowan 1.

On Monday evening one of the most interesting social affairs of the season, a miscellaneous dinner, was given by Misses Emma Windham, Mattie Kate Bozeman and Willie Perkins at the home of Miss Gertrude Donaldson, beautiful bride-elect, whose marriage to Fred Folsom will occur Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents.

The guests were met at the station by Miss Willie Windham and invited into the living room where a question contest, relative to the career of the bride, was held.

37 Years Ago—
The members of Miss Bonnie Bullard's music class will render a recital tonight at the Elba High school auditorium. An interesting program has been arranged.

Elba F. F. A. Chapter Maps Challenging Program
A challenging program to meet the needs and arouse the interest of the 48 FFA members at the high school was adopted at a recent meeting of the group. Under cooperative activities, club members will work with the 4-H club, FFA, school, Portry and Soil Conservation Department to carry out projects. Plans are being made to make a portable pest control, conduct a rat control campaign, carry out a safety program, encourage construction of sanitary toilets and conduct a livestock pest, fly and mosquito control campaign.

Each member gets leadership training by working in committees, appearing on programs and in carrying out other phases of the program. The FFA chapter is self-supporting, operating on funds earned on different projects. Accurate records of receipts are kept by the treasurer.

GET LEADERSHIP TRAINING
In the chapter, members are kept by the treasurer. Items for the Agriculture department have been purchased by the FFA chapter. The classroom was painted, tables and chairs varnished, and venetian blinds purchased and installed. One-half the cost of an acetylene and electric welding machine was paid by the chapter, the county board of education financing the other half.

FFA meetings are held every two weeks and business conducted in parliamentary fashion. Each FFA member is encouraged to improve his scholastic standing in school and take part in clubs, athletics and the band.

The planned recreation program for the year consists of a golf tournament, a golf in the FFA library which has been started, take part in the county FFA basketball tournament, hold joint party with the FFA, give fathers and mothers a barbecue, make a tour of the experiment stations and make a recreation trip.

Help members reach the primary activities, it is felt, will help them reach the primary objectives of the club. The development of agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship.

MEMBERS

The canvassing board met in the courthouse Friday to officially count the Coffee County ballot.

A total of 4,620 votes were counted in the county for president—believed to be a record for a general election here. With the exception of the 1928 election, in which A. Smith opposed Herbert Hoover, general elections in Coffee County have created little interest. This time opposition to Truman and the general popularity of Eisenhower built up great interest and caused voters to flock to the polls.

AMENDMENTS
All amendments were attached to the following vote:
No. 1—Yes 1,448, No 1,781.
No. 2—Yes 703, No 216.
No. 3—Yes 450, No 570.
No. 4—Yes 432, No 586.
Vote by Ballot on the Stephens-Eisenhower issue was:

FOREST FIRE THREAT STOPS ALL HUNTING
State Conservation Director Earl M. McGowan closed Alabama's hunting season at noon, Friday, Nov. 7, until the forest fire threat is over. This action was taken after consultation with the Conservation Advisory Board and approval by Gov. Gordon Persons.

During the past week both the Governor's office and Director of Conservation have received requests for this action.

State officials became alarmed by the increasing number of fires and larger number of acres of land burned over in the state the past few days. Drought, high winds and excessive dryness have produced poor hunting and many hunters favored temporary closing of the season in the hope of getting better hunting later on.

Sportsmen's organizations joined in the request that the seasons be closed.

McGowan said, "We will re-open the hunting seasons as soon as the forest fire threat is alleviated. Possibly this will be done by counties as conditions permit. Cooperation of all sportsmen will be needed to make the effort," he said.

McGowan said, "We are not blaming the hunters, and have no reason to do so. This is just a precautionary step to keep persons out of the woods." He urged hunters and sportsmen to stay out of areas where there is fire danger.

Not long ago I read where some professor explained the chemical reasons why leaves change all their beautiful colors in the fall. Back when I was a boy I could tell that a tree was a maple by the yellow of its leaves this time of the year. And there was a special red which marked the oak. According to my system, it's the tree they're on which determines their color.

I was thinking about this last week while driving my truck up toward Golden. I thought about how much prettier the woods seem to me now than when I was a kid. At least that's one thing where I think change has been for the better.

Years ago the saw mills would come through and build a railroad into a section for logging. It cost so much they had to cut down all the trees to make it pay. It left the woods stripped and ugly.

Now practically all timber is brought out by trucks, and they can afford to cut only the bigger ones. That's what they call tree farming, and think a lot of credit for its progress goes to trucks, which make it easy and economical to grow trees as a crop.

Three-in-One Club

The Three-in-One Study Club met Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Baxter Bryan with Mrs. J. W. Kendrick and Mrs. Stokes.

An attractive arrangement of gladioli and specimen mums adorned the mantle while crystal bowls of mixed fall flowers were used in the hall and dining room.

A delicious party plate with hot coffee was served preceding the program.

At a business session presided over by Miss Lillian Rowe the Special Projects committee reported work would begin on beautification of the square in cooperation with the Lions Club and county officials.

Miss Gladys Clark presented the speakers of the evening. The devotionals were given by Mrs. J. W. Kendrick.

Birthday Dinner

Mrs. J. W. Kendrick and Mrs. J. D. Whitman entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner party Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. Whitman in honor of their daughters, Mrs. Billy Oggs and Mrs. Jack Dickert of Brundidge. It was the birthday of Mrs. Dickert and Mrs. Oggs.

The living and dining room table held a profusion of flowers and mums. The dining table was overlaid with imported lace cloth and place cards were set for 16.

The central piece was a tray of fruit and autumn foliage while at the end was placed the beautifully embossed birthday cake with pink burning tapers.

A turkey dinner was served to Mr. & Mrs. Bill Bruce, Mr. & Mrs. Willard Martin, Mr. & Mrs. Tom Beale of Mobile, Mr. & Mrs. Jack Dickert of Brundidge, Mrs. J. W. Kendrick and Mrs. J. D. Whitman.

Welcome*

WHEN she introduces herself as an Alabama Power Company home service advisor, bid her welcome. She'll have nothing to sell you. She may be able to tell you how you can get even more enjoyment from the electrical appliances you already have. She may be able to show you how to make some simple repair — such as replacing a worn lamp cord.

She may be able to give you some easy-to-follow suggestions about the lighting in your home, so that you can read or work with greater comfort — so that the children can do their homework without eyestrain.

There is no charge for the services of our home service advisors. Well trained, capable women, their sole duty is to help our home customers get the most value from their electrical appliances and electric service.

A request to our nearest office will bring an early visit from one of them.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By C. H. Harper
Soil Conservationist

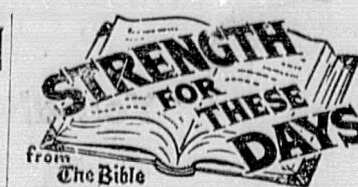

The State Department of Conservation reports 22,714 pounds of fish were caught in the Coffee County public lake during the past year. The breakdown shows that 33,361 bream weighing 19,877 pounds, 2,019 bass weighing the scales at 2,611 pounds and 558 other fish weighing 462 pounds were caught.

The pond produced an average of 270 pounds of fish per acre. There are many ponds in Coffee County producing practically nothing. A small pond can be made to produce as well as a large one if properly stocked and managed.

Pulton Spurlin, a district cooperator north of Elba, has completed planting 20 acres of bahia grass and crimson clover. Mr. Spurlin is doing an outstanding job of developing a grazing system on his farm.

Recently Johnnie McCall and Wilbur Donaldson of Curtis community combined several of their farms. These fields were continuously grazed but yielded very little. The fields are now planted to bahia grass and crimson clover. This is one of the most valuable plants we have. It will contribute to the farm income when used for soil improvement, erosion control, grazing, and any needed production.

The prolonged growth has severely restricted the growth of winter cover, grazing and soil

To those who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and immortality, eternal life... (Romans 2:7)

Glamour, wealth, headline "success" and fame—these are emphasized daily in most that we see, hear and read. Their brilliance beguiles us, even as it fades. But how can it compare with the simple, lasting satisfaction, the peace of mind and soul, the everlasting inner light which shines those who live and work humbly in the ways of the Lord?

building crops. Coffee county has planted a record amount of oats, new vetch and clover this fall; however the lack of moisture has caused most to wilt for rain.

Many fields have been "eaten out" and cows are beginning to lose weight. This time of the year, November and December, is the most difficult period of the year for the farmer. It is a dry crop like this.

I was at Kingston last week and noticed that the cows on the farms of H. B. Sims, Charles Mallory, J. L. Matthews, Robert Wise and Bill Day were grazing in green bahia grass. Pensacola bahia grass seems to fill a great need at this time of the year.

Wilbur Donaldson of Curtis has a field of oats where he planted part of the field and did not on the other part. The planted oats have continued to grow despite the drought and are now twice as large as the other

Alabama Power Petitions for Major Generating Plant

C. C. Jack Owen, chairman

Alabama Public Service Commission, announced today that Alabama Power Company has presented a petition for a certificate of convenience and necessity for the construction of another major generating plant at or near the site of its present steam plants at Gorgas.

Thomas W. Martin, Alabama Power Company Board chairman, stated that the new plant will have a General Electric generating unit with a capacity of 150,000 kilowatts and will be laid out for an ultimate capacity of three or four additional units. When the first of these units is completed, probably in 1955, the generating capacity at Gorgas will be 470,000 kilowatts, Alabama Power Company's largest generating center in the State.

Wilbur says this is proof that all oats should be planted when they are up, even during a dry crop like this.

The announcement of the petition followed a visit to the company of a delegation of approximately 250 representatives from agricultural, educational, governmental groups in Walker labor, industrial, commercial and county.

and will continue to be the largest investor-owned steam generating unit in the Southeast. "This forward step is taken," Mr. Martin said, "in view of the increased demands for power we foresee over the next few years, and in keeping with the Company's policy to have power available for future needs."

The new plant will be known as Gorgas No. 3. It is estimated that the cost of the first unit of the plant will be in the order of $25 million.

Announcement of the decision to locate the plant at Gorgas resulted largely from the availability there of fuel, the improvement of the highway system of Walker County to make the location more accessible and the location of Gorgas in a center of large industrial power uses.

The new plant will give employment to a number of additional men at both the generating operations at Gorgas and the mines there and nearby. Alabama Power Company, already a large user of coal, estimates that after this plant is built, its coal requirements at Gorgas will be in the order of a million and a half tons annually.

The announcement of the petition followed a visit to the company of a delegation of approximately 250 representatives from agricultural, educational, governmental groups in Walker labor, industrial, commercial and county.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY DR. HENRY H. FOREMAN
DEVOTIONAL READING: 7:30-8:15

Immortal Twelve
Lesson for November 16, 1952

If the twelve Apostles wanted to join your church, would you let them? Mr. Marshall thought not. Books of sermons are often dull reading, but Dr. Marshall's book called Mr. Jones, Meet the Master is as fast as a race horse and as you are likely to find anywhere.

One of the most powerful sermons goes over an imagined application of the twelve Apostles to membership in a typical American church. One by one each man is rejected—but but Jesus! As a man of money the church wants his services.

Unpromising Material
Not to steal Peter Marshall's sermon, nor to spoil your appetite for it in case you do read it, just to explore the possibilities, let's imagine yourself passing on the application of the twelve Apostles to church membership. There is Simon Peter... Well, He is a fisherman and a sailor, and a fisherman's language is, sometimes, a man noted for talking before he thinks. Not among the twelve, they would say in "Pope Level Friday" and a son, Dewey, at Andrews has a very limited background.

Better wait. Maybe he could find a little chapel nearer his work and be happier there. And then there's James and his brother John. Not among the twelve, they would say in "Pope Level Friday" and a son, Dewey, at Andrews has a very limited background.

Mr. & Mrs. Morris Davis and children have gone to Jacksonville, Fla. where he has a job with the Southern Trucking Co. and she at St. Louis. Mr. & Mrs. N. N. King of Princeton were visiting here Sunday. Mr. & Mrs. F. K. King were visiting relatives in Elba and Tipp

HAROLD STEALS SHOW

Harold (Choo-Choo) Harris, former Elba high grid star, has been given considerable publicity in The Clipper this season but we feel that he deserves it. According to reports of the last Troy State game, Harris came near being the "whole show."

Monday's Montgomery Advertiser said: "Harold Harris turned in an amazing running performance here Saturday night to lead the Troy State Red Wave to a well-earned 25-13 victory over Livingston State in a bitterly fought intra-state game."

"Tonight's victory ended Troy State's home stand and gave the Wave a record of four victories against five defeats. An estimated crowd of 3,000 watched Harris gain 133 out of the Wave's 185 yards, rushing for an average of seven yards per try. The talented back went over for two touchdowns, one of them a beautiful 25-yard gallop."

WILLIE BEN LEE KILLED BY TRAIN
Willie Ben Lee, 59, native of Coffee County, was killed Nov. 14 when the car in which he was riding struck a tree in Panama, Fla. He was an automobile salesman and left Elba over 20 years ago to make his home in Panama. He was living in Panama at the time of his death.

He was the son of Ida L. Carpenter and Charles S. Lee. Mr. Lee's body was brought to Elba for burial. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Elba Baptist church. Rev. M. L. Seay and Fred L. Davis officiated.

Troy Contests Finishes Local Grid Program

The Elba football season will come to a close Friday night when the Trojans of Troy High school tangle with the Tigers at the local stadium. Kickoff time is 7:30.

Coach Buckner said Tuesday morning that the Tigers are in better physical condition than they have been for several weeks and he has reason to believe they will make a good showing. He said Jimmy Bowdoin has improved from injuries which have benched him in recent games. The Trojans have a fair record this season and can be counted upon to be tough competition.

Coffee Lake Fishermen Do Better in 1952

The Alabama Conservation Department's Division of Parks says that Coffee County Public Fishing Lake, located north of Elba, produced approximately three times as many fish during 1951-52 as during the preceding year.

The 80-acre lake, opened to the public in May 1951, produced 83,938 broom and bass weighing 22,714 pounds in 1951-52 compared with a catch of 26,665 fish weighing 7,681 pounds in 1950-51.

State Parks Chief James L. Seagrass said Coffee Lake had 7,945 visitors last year compared with 15,574 the year before.

He said the gain in fish and in total pondage caught was partially due to use of 106,000 lb. of fertilizer in the lake's waters during the past year.

Kilgo, in plowing the lake is located on a 202 1/2 acre plot of ground owned to the public for recreational purposes.

Seagrass said attendance and fish catch figures indicated the average fisherman took between two and three times as many fish at Coffee Lake last year as the year before.
